STUDENT BENEFITS

Student purchasing behaviour is directly related to the cost of course materials.

- When students are unable to afford their course material it can have a harmful impact on academic success.

69% of students say they would earn better grades if they had access to all their course material before the first day of class.

Wakefield Research [2018] study "Majority of college students delay purchasing textbooks due to cost."

85% of students delay or avoid purchasing required course material. 91% say that decision was due to cost.

FACULTY BENEFITS

1

Whether assigning paid publisher content or OER, all of your course materials are available for adoption - the choice is yours.

2

All course material will still be submitted through the Bookstore, including OER, library resources, materials on Moodle, and lecture notes - we take care of the rest.

3

Students arrive to class with access to all their course materials - ready to learn.

OUR VALUES

Inclusion and Diversity. Access is open: we welcome students, faculty, staff and communities from our region and around the world to learn from and with one another. We embrace diversity of thought and people. We commit to equity. We continually see the world and its inhabitants in new ways by re-examining our practices and their impacts.

Community-Mindedness. We come together to help one another (Pelkwaílç-kt es knucwentwécw-kt). Mutual benefit guides us to connect meaningfully with people in the communities we serve, contributing to an interconnected world where we all share a common future and humanity.

Curiosity. We seek out new ideas and embrace change, understanding they may involve risks. We break paths with creative, critical, yet thoughtful purpose. We push boundaries as a university and encourage students, faculty, staff, and the community to do the same.

Sustainability. The natural world inspires us with wonder and reverence. We recognize how the health of our societies, cultures and ecosystems rests upon wellness of people, biodiversity, and wise stewardship of precious and finite resources. As a world leader in sustainability we know that the well-being of generations to come is shaped by what we do today.
